One of the highlights of this year’s Christmas Village on the docks in Gustavia is a free concert by American R&B singer Macy Gray on Monday, December 27 at 8pm. This acclaimed soul singer and songwriter is also a record producer and actress who has appeared in numerous films including Training Day, Spider-Man, Scary Movie 3, Lackawanna Blues, and Idlewild. Her singing style and voice quality has been likened to that of Billie Holiday or Aretha Franklin. A Grammy winner for Best Female Pop Vocal Performance, Gray has released five studio

Following a popular tradition in France, the Tourism Committee—in association with the Multi-professional Economic Chamber—has organized the first holiday market in Saint Barth. Baptized the “Christmas Village,” this seasonal market comprises a selection of merchants and artisans who have stands on the dock in front of the Capitainerie through December 28. The village is open from 5:30-9pm, as well as all day from 10am-6pm on Friday, December 24. The highpoint of the week: a free concert by Macy Gray on Monday, December 27 at 8:30pm!

Holiday Bingo
 The Lions Club of St Barth invites you to play bingo from 7pm-8pm on Thursday, December 23 as part of the Christmas Village. Proceeds will be used to purchase cholera vaccine for Haiti.

New Look For The Airport

Gray paint, wooden slats, accent walls and planters made of stone, and bright orange paint (to make the access to the upper level more visible) combine to give the Gustav III airport a decidedly more modern look.

This new look echoes the brief given to Design Affaires, the architectural firm that has done the redesign: to bring the aging airport terminal up to a level of sophistication in keeping with the image of the island. As well as make it more convivial, with a better flow for passengers from space to space.

The first phase of the work began in early September and consisted of redesigning the public spaces on the ground floor of the terminal. The runway side, the arrivals and departure halls, check-in area, and outer hallway were all updated with a contemporary design, mixing slats of wood with gray-taupe paint, plus the orange walls to indicate access to the upper story. The floor tiles are Kerlite, or laminated ceramic, which are very popular in contemporary architecture, and used for the first time in Saint Barth for this project.

It was quite a challenge for the artisans, who had but three months to complete the work: "Its success must be credited to the high quality of coordination and communication between the management of the airport, the technical services department of the Collectivity, the architects, and the companies involved," explains Fabrice Danet, director of the airport, who is pleased with the results of the ground floor renovation, which is just about completed (what remains to be done includes finishing details, new furniture, the installation of plasma screens in the departure hall, and the placement of photo blow-ups on the runway side and check-in area). The second and final phase of this redesign project for the terminal will begin at the end of the winter tourist season, and comprise the renovation of the upstairs shopping area, which will have a new lounge with WiFi. "The idea is to create a space where passengers will want to go before their planes take off, as well as add new energy to the upper level," adds Danet.

40 Boats For The 2011 Saint Barth Bucket

A record number for the 2011 edition of the Saint Barth Bucket, which takes place the same year as the 25th anniversary of the original Bucket regatta, which was held in August 1986, in the waters of Nantucket, Massachusetts. Visiting Saint Barth last week to prepare for the event, Hank Halsted, managing director, Timothy Laughridge, director, and Peter Craig, race director, confirmed the list of 40 fabulous sailboats, most of which are over 100 feet in length, on the starting line for the 16th annual Saint Barth Bucket, which takes place March 24-27, 2011.

Bucket organizers do not plan on breaking this record: "40 is the limit for maintaining the spirit of the

Bucket: fun and safety," states Halsted. It's big, confirms Craig, who organizes and runs the various regattas for these super-yachts: "The fleet for the Saint Barth Bucket is, by far, the largest in the world." According to Craig, most of the races of this kind have less than 20 boats on average. The organizers attribute the success of the Bucket to the island of Saint Barthélemy: "It is a very special place with which the owners of the boats have a personal affinity," echoed all three in unison.

As a result, 40 boats with an average crew of 20 people plus owners and their friends, means that more than 1000 people will be on the island to celebrate the Saint Barth Bucket in March.

The Maltese Falcon Returns

Among the prestigious boats for the 2011 Bucket is the return of the Maltese

Falcon, participating for the third time. The two winners from 2010 will also be here: Hanuman, which won the Newport Bucket in September, and Ranger, winner of the 2010 Saint Barth Bucket. In addition are six brand new yachts—Christopher, Twizzle, Marie, Lady B, Kokomo, and Melek—certain of which are still under completion. Bucket veterans include Antara, Ranger, Rebecca, Hyperion, Salper-ton, White Wings, and Sojana. Former winners, who have their name inscribed on the Bucket trophy, racing again in 2011 comprise Unfurled (2002), Freedom of Flight (2005), Windrose (2008), Meteor (2009), and Ranger (2010).

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of the original Bucket, the organizers are planning a special event that would "involve the entire population, not just the spectators," hinted Halsted, who would not reveal any details as of yet.

Last but not least, plans are underway for a book celebrating the 25 years of the Bucket. It should be completed by the end of next year and include the two 2011 regattas: the Saint Barth Bucket in March and the Newport Bucket, August 26-28, 2011.

Drinking and Driving: An Expensive Combination

In France, if the legal level of alcohol is less than 0.25mg per liter of air exhaled, it is better to never exceed that limit. Controlled with a level higher than 0.55mg, one foreign visitor was obliged to immediately pay a fine of 1500 euros rather than appear before a judge. Drink or drive... your choice!

ROBB'S ST BARTH SONG

Like many artists, he goes by a single name, that of Robb. He is French, with roots in The Philippines, Vietnam, and Thailand, and his principal métier is that of a massage therapist who specializes in Thai massage (clients may remember him from the spa at the Isle de France).

Living in St Barth since 2006, Robb has been involved in music on a serious level for the past 10 years, playing guitar with various groups and as a solo singer and songwriter, penning both music and lyrics. "I play primarily for my own pleasure," he says, "but in St Barth everybody said they liked my songs and encouraged me to produce a CD." The result, at least for now, is a single entitled "St Barth Song," which Robb self-produced for his friends, and presented live at La Plage in St Jean on Tuesday evening, December 21, 2010, accompanied by the local band, The Roots Brothers. "The style of the song, which is played regularly on Radio St Barth, is Caribbean reggae," notes Robb, who adds that he has no plans for an album, at least not at this time.

The CD "St Barth Song" can be purchased at Tropic Video, Pati St Barth, Black Swan, Filles des Isles, American Gourmet, Eden Rock, Isle de France, and Tom Shop, and would make a nice little stocking stuffer for those who like Caribbean music.

Michel and his staff are happy to welcome you to their pool-side restaurant for lunch & dinner.

BLUE ZONE PARKING IN GUSTAVIA

How It Works

Blue Zone parking, in effect in Gustavia since last year, was established as a means to help control traffic and parking in the center of town.

In the «blue» zones, drivers are authorized to park for free for an hour and a half when using a blue parking disk available from all rental car agencies, as well as at the Territorial Police station, the Hotel de la Collectivité, and the Tourist Office. The disk must be put in clear view on the dashboard, against the windshield of the car, indicating the starting time for the 90 minutes of legal parking. All cars must be moved after 90 minutes.

The "blue zones" are defined by special signage and centralized in Gustavia as follows:

- Rue du Bord du Mer: along the waterfront;
- Rue de la République: the road from the pharmacy to Le Select;
- Rue de la France: from Le Select to the quay;
- Rue Place d'Armes: the left side of the street from the waterfront to Beranger;
- Rue Samuel Fahlberg: the street from Isola past the post office and up to the hospital, where cars park along the sidewalk (no trucks allowed except for deliveries).

Blue zone parking will be in effect during the day, from 8am to 6pm, from Monday through Saturday. After 6pm, as well as Sundays and holidays, unlimited parking is free.

EDEN ROCK GALLERY PRESENTS:

"UNCOVERED" BY THE NEW YORK ACADEMY OF ART

"Uncovered," a word that can be both suggestive and provocative, takes on an even more highly charged meaning in St. Barth, where beaches and streets overflow with people in various states of undress. The artists in this exhibition, all members of the faculty and Artists' Advisory Board of the New York Academy of Art, and among the most talked about mid-career painters working today, were asked to present their interpretation of the word.

"Uncovered exposes the fragile veil that hovers and lingers over the human form." To others, however, the word may evoke broader and more philosophical meanings. Painter Julie Heffernan explains, "Uncovering is what artists do—we paint in order to figure out what we think."

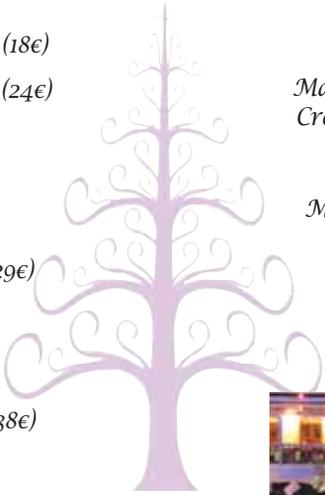

it is literally about being uncovered,") to a still-life by Catherine Howe, ("a metaphor for transcendence and desire...which is uncovered in the process of painting,") to a highly charged genre scene by Natalie Frank, ("the painting depicts a couple not in sync. This disparity is laid bare, uncovered")—is exhilarating. All possess a high degree of craftsmanship and a complex narrative framework, attributes that reflect the values and mission of the Academy. Beyond that, as the viewer might expect, the artistic imagination clearly takes over. The New York Academy of Art offers traditional artistic training (with a focus on the human form) to emerging artists and challenges them to use these skills to create vital contemporary art. We wish to thank the Eden Rock Gallery for making this exhibition possible".

exclusive contract with the English record label, Defected, the most important House label in the world, Hanna Hais has traveled to the world's best clubs both singing and mixing at the same time. She will be the special guest on Christmas Eve at the Yacht Club and on Christmas Day at the Ti; DJ Niki Belucci, a Hungarian topless DJ, mixes regularly for FG DJ Radio and brings her talent to the Ti on January 3 and the Yacht Club on January 1; Sacha Muki, resident DJ at the Palais Club in Cannes for the "Palais Party" on January 1 at the Ti and January 2 and 3 at the Yacht Club; DJ Miller, resident DJ at Rai, the hippest club in Moscow, enlivens a "Russian New Year's Eve" at the Ti on January 6, as well as closing night parties for the festival turning the Yacht Club into "Rai Moscow" on January 7 and 8.

In addition to these top DJs, the festival includes "Day & Night" parties from December 26-31, comprises the passage into the New Year. This concept, created by American brothers, Derek & Daniel Koch (who will be in St Barth for the occasion) puts a variety of different DJs in the spotlight. Other special events for New Year's Eve? At the Ti, Carole promises "the most beautiful evening of the past 15 years," while DJs of the Day & Night Concept animate the party at the Yacht Club.

In this galaxy of stars, local DJs are also part of the scene: James Kentaro, Matt Deavis, and Frank N, who will play on January 4, 5 and 6, respectively at the Yacht Club.

Last but not least, repeating a successful partnership, Carole Gruson brings her fete to the Guanahani Hotel & Spa in Grand Cul de Sac on Sunday, January 2, with a special "beach brunch," featuring the lovely Niki Belucci at the turntables.

THE 'REGULARS' AT TI SAINT BARTH

The success of Ti Saint Barth, frequented as often by residents as by tourists, is due to Carole Gruson, who created, developed, and promoted this special place. She would also like to thank those who have been by her side in creating its success: Pascal Giglio, who has ruled the kitchen since the first day the restaurant opened; and DJ Franck N, who has been at the Ti's turntables for the past 15 years.

Straw Work At Chez Alex in Corossol

One of the few items reflecting the local heritage of Saint Barth is the woven straw work made by the women in Corossol. This tradition of drying and braiding palm fronds, then sewing the braided tresses into hats, baskets, and other objects, has been passed down from generation to generation and is still practiced in a limited manner today.

If you visit the charming village of Corossol, you'll see some of this straw work on display outside of several homes, but as of this year, there is also a lovely collection for sale at Chez Alex. This small neighborhood grocery store has been updated and run by Nathalie Philip since last July and has become a popular spot for a cup of coffee or a snack during the day, as well as a convenient place to purchase a souvenir actually made in Saint Barth.

"I work with all of the various women who make straw objects in Corossol," says Philip. On the shelves at Chez Alex she has a range of straw hats, large and small baskets, decorative birds and fish, placemats, dolls, fans, coasters, bottle covers, purses, and fans—all handmade by the ladies in the neighborhood. One of the most unusual items is a heart-shaped straw box that could be used for jewelry.

There are many different kinds of braided straw that these women use for the fabrication of various objects. Philip has short pieces of each tress on display so that you can see the different styles, from double knots to fringe for the edge of hats, as well as tress for fans, baskets, flowers, and other decoration. With hats selling for 25 euros and baskets ranging from 8 euros to 20 euros depending on their size, the straw work at Chez Alex is the perfect way to take home a piece of island culture at a very small price.

27th annual St Barts Music Festival

The classical music festival of Saint Barth is a rare jewel we shouldn't take for granted. Rare because not all festivals exist for so many years: many just run out of steam. And rare, because of the great ensemble of musicians—mostly American—who perform so generously thanks to the perseverance and passion of the festival's creator, Frances De Broff. The schedule for the 2011 edition, the 27nd annual which runs January 7 to 18, is published below.

SCHEDULE

- ▮ Friday, January 7, 8pm, A.J.O.E, Lorient :
Dance program I - Stars of the Paris Opera, Nice & Grand Canadian ballets $25
- ▮ Saturday, January 8, 8pm, A.J.O.E, Lorient :
Dance program II - Stars of the Paris Opera, Nice & Grand Canadian ballets $25
- ▮ Tuesday, Jan. 11, 8pm, Catholic Church, Gustavia :
Chamber music, works of Mozart, FREE
- ▮ Wednesday, Jan. 12, 8pm, Catholic Church, Lorient :
Orchestra evening, works of Bruch, Mozart & Schubert $45
- ▮ Thursday, Jan. 13, 8pm : Catholic Church, Gustavia :
Piano concert, works of Chopin $45
- ▮ Friday, January 14, 8 pm, Catholic Church, Lorient,
Opera night, arias and love duets $45
- ▮ Saturday, Jan. 15, 7pm and 9 pm, Catholic Church, Gustavia :
2 jazz concerts, Jason Marsalis Quartet, $45 Each
- ▮ Sunday, January 16.
 - 4pm, Anglican Church : Recital by Saint Barth Harmony, FREE
 - 8pm, Eddy's Restaurant : Benefit dinner $100
- ▮ Tuesday, January 18, 8pm, Anglican Church, Gustavia :

Puzzle  www.sudokustar.fr

There's no math involved. The grid has numbers, but nothing has to add up to anything else. You solve the puzzle with reasoning and logic. It's fun. It's challenging. It's addictive! "Fill in the grid so that every row, every column, and every 3x3 box contains the digits 1 through 9." That's all there is to it.
