NEWS BRIEFS

ST BARTH ESSENTIEL MEETING

On Friday, March 27, 2015 at 5pm in the upstairs meeting room at the Capitainerie in Gustavia, the association St Barth Essentiel will hold an informational meeting open to the public. The agenda includes a recap of activities led by the association since 2009 (inventory, herbarium, books, photo competitions, various projects...). Their new "Small Island, Small Cars" stickers will be distributed free of charge and several books will be available for sale. Everyone is invited to attend.

THE CASB ORGANIZES AIR SHOW

Four years ago and once again this year, the organization of the air show during The St Barth Bucket was assured by the Aeronautic Club of Saint Barthélemy (CASB). In 2011, the CASB had only existed a few weeks prior to the event, and the president at that time was Jean Belotti, a former pilot and aviation expert. The current president is Fabrice Danet, director of the Gustave III Airport, and his board comprises Bertrand

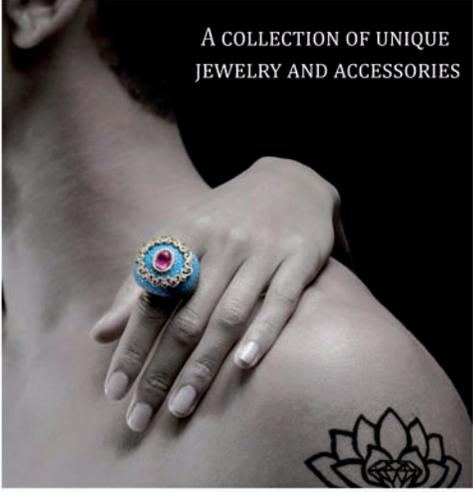

Magras, François Macé, Séraphyn Danet, Amande Hahn, and Stéphane Caubel. The goals of the club are "exchanges and mutual assistance in the world of aviation. From businesses in that sector to other aeronautic clubs, administrations, and airports," explains Danet. "Or the promotion of aviation and the organization of planes for an air show," he adds. For the air show in Saint Barth last weekend, the CASB was responsible for the liaison with several aviation authorities, both French and international, for authorization of the fly-bys, and with those airports whose air space was concerned, including Anguilla, where the planes were stationed, and Sint Maarten. ### SB JAM MUSIK FESTIVAL HAS BIG PLANS FOR NUMBER 10

For its 10th edition, the SB JAM Musik Festival will comprise five evenings with no less than 15 concerts and 150 musicians, representing every style of Caribbean music. The organizers are seeking sponsors for this big event.

It's been 10 years since SB JAM decided to start a music festival, under the leadership of Jackson Questel. And not just any music, as the festival honors all styles of music from the Caribbean, allowing for a diverse program from a region ripe with good music, soca to zouk, reggae to salsa, and calypso to kompa, every island in the region has its own musical style, or more than one such as in Jamaica and Cuba. "The idea is to remember that St Barth always has one foot in the Caribbean," says Questel. To celebrate its 10th anniversary, the SB JAM Musik Festival has big plans, with concerts over five nights, July 10-14. And no less than 15 concerts with 150 musicians on the roster, with such stars as Steel Pulse and Admiral T. For this exceptional edition, the organizers hope to find new sponsors, guaranteeing them special visibility, based on their level of participation, from up to 500 or over 5,000 euros, according to Questel who has contacted several potential partners already. One sponsorship idea is “an evening dedicated to a major sponsor,” he notes. The festival (www.sbjam.com) will have an interface for online contributions, and Questel invites all to invest “in order to have such event and see such artists on the island, as there aren’t that many cultural events,” he points out “We are still here,” he says, almost surprised that the 10th edition is on the horizon, and which could be the best yet. “It’s daring but possible,” he concludes.

The first night, Friday, July 10, features reggae legends Steel Pulse, with Soft, from Guadeloupe, as the opening act. On July 11: Kali from Martinique with his guests, queen of zouk Tanya Saint-Val and Ralph Tamar, the legendary singer from Malavoi, followed by the calypso group Exil One, from Dominica. Sunday July 12 Mr Ruffy, plus a trio from the Haitian group Carimi. July 13, San Juan Havana, followed by reggae-dancehall king Admiral T. And for the grand finale on July 14, K-Ravan from Guadeloupe with special guests Meddy Cousto, Orlane, Paola, and Claudio Philip.

PAINTER FRANCESCO CLEMENTE AT THE LOCAL MUSEUM

Following the inaugural exhibit of prints by Jasper Johns (through March 28), the association Saint-Barth Isle d’Art would like to pay tribute to other international artists who have visited Saint Barthélemy since the 60s. Other than Jasper Johns, who has a house on the nearby island of Saint Martin, painter Francesco Clemente has been a frequent visitor to St Barth. Born in Naples, Italy, Clemente lives primarily in the United States, between New Mexico and New York, where in the 80s, he was part of the art scene Andy Warhol and Jean-Michel Basquiat, among others. His work is in the vein of Francis Bacon or Lucian Freud, but in an original style. Saint-Barth Isle d’Art would like to plan an exhibit of his work at the Territorial Museum at the end of the year, perhaps at Thanksgiving. Clemente explains that he has been inspired by the work of a major West Indian talent: poet and author Derek Walcott, from St. Lucia, who won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1992 and is renowned for his epic poem, Omeros, loosely based on Homer’s Iliad, transposed to the Caribbean.

VISIONE WINS 2015 ST BARTH BUCKET

Hasso Plattner's beautiful 147' Reichel/Pugh yacht, Visione, is no stranger to St Barth, having won the New Year's Eve Parade in 2004 and again in 2012, remaining the record holder for the fastest-time-around-the island in that race, set in 2004. Visione has also sailed in The St Barth Bucket several times, and this year, after three days of competitive sailing, took top honors as overall winner of the 2015 Bucket, which took place March 20-22.

Visione was the class winner for Les Gazelles des Mers, with a second place win on Friday, and first place wins on both Saturday and Sunday, beating Vitters Shipyard's Inoui for second place and Perini Navi's P2, which came in third. "When P2 was winning, we knew we had to be second," said Visione's tactician Jens Christiansen, explaining that in the pursuit-style format used here, Visione started 18 minutes after the 125' sloop P2 and 15 minutes after Inoui. "Things got tense when we broke a code sail sheet on the way to the first mark." They used another sheet on and thought we had it under control when bang, it broke again, and Visione lost ground. "We caught them (P2) quite quickly and passed them on the other side of the island, beating them by quite a lot in the end. The 10-11 knot winds suited us well. We were sailing very fast on the long beat, going farther out because we are that much faster than anybody else and staying clear of other boats in other classes so as not to get entangled in them tacking on each other."

In the Elegantes des Mers class, for the first time in Bucket history, there was a tie for first place, with Adela and Elfje sharing the top spot. "It was a very unusual situation, and there was good sportsmanship all the way around that resulted in these boats agreeing to the tie," noted

It was an exciting year for The St. Barth Bucket, with a shift in ownership, as four of the major yacht builders took on the stewardship role for the event: Perini Navi, Royal Huisman, Vitters, and Rybovich. It was also the second time that The Bucket was accompanied by an air show. The first was in 2011 with four WWII planes, this time with eight restored WWII warbirds from the Texas Flying Legends Museum and Rod Lewis Air Legends. Spectators lined the sides of the road on Friday and Sunday to see these historic planes buzz the airport and there were crowds for the actual air show on Saturday afternoon. President Bruno Magras presented each of the pilots with the medal of Saint Barthélemy at The Bucket Awards Ceremony on Sunday evening.

Each year The Bucket shows its generosity by giving a donation to a worthy charity on the island. This year it was a check for 18,000 euros to the St Barth Children's With Handicaps Project, with the funds going to SESSAD Coralita, based in St Martin. The check was presented to John Jordan of the St Barth Lions Club and Rose Nicolas on behalf of SESSAD.

The 2016 Bucket will be held March 17-20, 2016.
